

Adient executive biography

Brian Grady

Vice President Commercial

Brian is vice president of commercial for Adient. As the leader for this business unit he is responsible for global customers, specialty seating, innovation and marketing.

He also has a strong focus toward building upon Adient's customer relationships and further enhancing the voice of the customer across the organization.

Brian joined Johnson Controls in 1998 and held leadership positions in Automotive Experience prior to joining the executive team at Adient. He served as vice president for Seating EMEA, vice president GM, vice president Metals North America and vice president Nissan. He also served in their Power Solutions group as vice president Global Commercial. Prior to joining Johnson Controls Brian was with General Motors.

Brian graduated from Ferris State University with a Bachelor of Science degree in business.