Dear Valued Supplier,

On Oct. 31, Chairman and CEO Bruce McDonald and his leadership team will ring the opening bell at the New York Stock Exchange (NYSE) to mark our first day of trading as an independent company.

This event will commemorate the official launch of the world's largest automotive seating supplier as an independent company and the birthday of Adient.

With our independence, we are also launching our new corporate website, which includes this supplier portal, both designed and developed to be user-friendly and promote interaction with our customers and our wider global audience. That means, for you, our valued partners, we will begin using this supplier portal as the primary point of contact for all of our supplier communications to ensure information is disseminated quickly across all channels. Therefore, this page as well as the interior pages within this portal will be updated regularly. We encourage you to bookmark this page and our supplier landing page and visit frequently. We're confident communicating via this new portal offers you a faster, smarter way to collaborate with Adient, and be informed about key topics impacting our supply chain.

We look forward to continuing our partnership and thank you for your valued partnership.

Best wishes,

The Adient Global Procurement Team
