

Adient executive biography

Dr. David Herberg

Executive Vice President, EMEA

Dr. David Herberg is executive vice president, Adient Europe, Middle East and Africa (EMEA).

He previously served as vice president of operations, vice president of engineering, and vice president of commercial – all within Adient's EMEA region.

Dr. Herberg joined Adient in 2011 as director, change office, before serving as executive director of trim engineering and program management and executive director of commercial vehicle seating.

Prior to joining Adient, he served as a consultant with McKinsey & Company in Hamburg and Berlin, Germany.

Dr. Herberg earned bachelor's and doctorate degrees in engineering from Technical University of Berlin and a bachelor's degree in business administration from Ecole Supérieure de Commerce in Toulouse, France.